

NIH Training Collaborative Forum

Developing and Delivering Training for Individuals with Disabilities

April 10, 2014

Rockledge II

Rooms 9112/9116 (9th floor)

2:00 pm - 2:10 pm	Welcome and Introductions Derrick Prather, Program Manager, NIH Training Center
2:10 pm – 2:35 pm	NIH Accessibility Testing Lab (NAT) Overview Gary Morin, Program Analyst NIH Office of the Chief Information Officer
2:35 pm – 2:50 pm	NIH Training Center Updates Kristen Dunn-Thomason, Director, NIH Training Center
2:50 pm – 3:15 pm	3 Blind Mice – An End-User Perspective Christopher Booher, Grants Management Specialist National Institute of Mental Health
3:15 pm – 3:50 pm	Group Discussion: Best Practices for Accessible Training (Forum members will develop a Best Practice tip sheet)
3:50 pm – 4:00 pm	Open Discussion/Announcements/Wrap Up

(Please see page 2)

Guiding Questions for Group Discussion

- 1) What did you have to do to accommodate individuals that needed reasonable accommodations?
- 2) Identify any challenges you have experienced developing and or delivering training for individuals with disabilities?
- 3) What are your best practices to developing and or delivering training for individuals that need reasonable accommodations?